

THE BIGGEST LOVE

John 15:13

“Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.”

This week all over the world known as Christmas the native, time of love, time of peace is commemorated among all, changes of gifts and a lot of festivities.

But I would like to share something on this feeling that is in the air: the love.

Have one been speaking a lot and in this time much more than in every other day of the year, but will it be that we have same love the other ones? Will it be that I love even that what is near from me?

If we walk for the streets of our cities, we will see people played by the songs, without family, without food, without care, without friends. Abandoned and alone in a world with six billion people. Where is the love? What difference does he make in our life? Will it be that these people know this feeling?

If we continue our walk, we will see people that surrender to the drugs, to the prostitution, to the promiscuity and the alcohol, in a desperate attempt to fill out the emptiness of the soul.

What difference has Christ's arrival been making to the world? What difference has his death been making in my life? After all, the native is not the commemoration of Christ's birth?

All of the years it is the same thing. We say that it is time of love, but in my head I only see questions, because the reality that I see is very distant than the love preaches. I would like that Jesus really make difference, because it went to this that He came.

A lot of love until it has been demonstrated, but nobody demonstrated larger love than Him.

Christ left everything, the whole comfort that had in the skies and adoration that He received to live among us. Was it humiliated and so that? So that today I could give presents to the other ones? No!

Jane and Elias – One couple serving the Lord

Jesus came, he lived among the men and he died because he wanted to transform the world, to change the history. And He will change your history if you leave. So that this change happens is enough you to receive him, don't like crucified Christ, but as the Messiah that loved him, he died and he resurrected so that you lived.

Jesus wants to do difference in you. For Him he doesn't make difference your religion, he wants to do of you image and similarity of the Father. As well as you it was created.

See you!
